ABOUT THE ARTISTS

Graham Annable is the creator of the Grickle books and has been a contributor to the graphic novel anthology Flight. He also works as a story artist for films and has created several short animations of his own.

Scott Campbell is well-known for his humorous mini-comics and video game work for Double Fine Productions. He has also contributed to Flight, and is currently residing in New York as a freelance artist.

Jon Klassen is a concept artist at Dreamworks Animation and has also worked on the upcoming adaptation of Neil Gaiman's Coraline. Jon is also a contributor to Flight, and has shown in several Nucleus exhibits.

Israel Sanchez is an illustrator whose work can be seen in Nickelodeon Magazine and Comedy Central. He is a frequent contributor to Flight and has shown his art in various Los Angeles galleries.

Since October of 2004, Nucleus has strived to be a welcoming gathering place for the art-loving community by offering quality art, art-related goods, and rarities. Focusing primarily on gallery exhibits, we have also held benefit auctions, product signings, music events, and artist lectures.

After three and a half years, we moved one block east to a much larger and more dynamic space. Still in the heart of quaint downtown Alhambra, we re-opened in March of 2008 with over 2,000 square feet of open gallery space, 1,000 square feet of shop/boutique, and over 3,000 square feet of studio/production space.

Having exhibited both local artists and artists from abroad, and catering to an international customer base, we offer an extensive collection of original contemporary, illustrated, graphic, commercial, and narrative art. (All of which are carefully cataloged online on our website.)

Always open to the public, we welcome art collectors and the general public alike to visit us seven days a week.
